When was the association established? 1994

Number of members: 400

APLISC offers Seminars throughout the year with talks, workshops and a chance for the teacher to continuously keep up with the literature in the area. At the seminars teachers can meet leading theorists and writers (and exchange ideas with professionals from many ELT sectors).

APLISC is a non-profit organisation for teachers of English. It was created basically to promote the learning and teaching of the English Language in the State of Santa Catarina. The specific aim of APLISC is to offer support for the professional development of teachers (graduate and/or non-graduate) in both public and private schools.

The association has spread into the State and now there are four subsections (Joaçaba, Tubarão, Joinville and Criciúma).

How can teachers join?

By filling in the form provided on the website or by personally contacting the association at UFSC.
