TEACHING FOR SUCCESS TEACHER TRAINING RESOURCES: FACE TO FACE COURSE

Introduction:

The Teaching for Success online conference was held from 5-9 October 2016. There were over 60 talks from speakers around the world which focused on key issues relating to Continuous Professional Development for teachers, and all linked to one of the British Council's 12 professional practices seen in the diagram. Following the conference, 10 of the talks were selected and turned into teacher training modules for both face to face instruction and self-access learning.

The Sessions:

The following table illustrates the list of sessions, their professional practice and the name of the speaker who presented the talk.

Audience:

The materials are designed to be used in teacher training sessions for teachers with a minimum B1 level of English, but preferably B2 and above. As most input comes from the videos, which vary slightly in depth, some of the modules may be more accessible for learners than others, depending on the learners' familiarity with the subject. The lesson content can be further supported, adapted and scaffolded by the trainer where needs be.

Preparation:

The face to face modules are composed of a PDF presentation, comprehensive trainer notes and any required ancillary materials (e.g. handouts, cut-ups etc.). It is advised that the trainer familiarise themselves with the content of the videos before conducting a training session as the videos are content rich and provide the basis for the input.

All the video links are in the PDF presentations and access to reliable internet is necessary to play them. For extra reference, all links are also listed on the following page.

Timing:

Each module is designed to take between one and two hours but depending on the group could be stretched over a couple of workshops, especially when considering the sessions' optional follow-up activities.
