Student A

You're a photographer for the paparazzi. You believe that celebrities make a lot of money from being photographed and it's the price they have to pay for being so rich! You have a reputation for being one of the best photographers in the world. Right now you are out looking for celebrities and you see one when they are shopping. You want to take the photo that will make it onto the front covers of the best magazines!

Student B

You're a famous person (you decide who), and you are fed up of being followed by the paparazzi. You believe that you have a right to some privacy and you are sick of photographers taking photos of you wherever you are. Right now, you are out shopping and you meet one of the most annoying photographers in the world. You decide to stop and take to him / her.
