

StaycationDiscussion Cards

A holiday isn't a holiday without good weather.

People don't get enough holiday time these days.

People who take a lot of flights for holidays are selfish – they don't think about the environmental impact that flying has.

Tourism has more disadvantages than advantages for the host country.

Going on holiday in your own country is boring.

If you travel abroad, you should learn some of the local language before you go.

Tourists should pay more for products and services than local people.

A holiday isn't a holiday without good weather.

People don't get enough holiday time these days.

People who take a lot of flights for holidays are selfish – they don't think about the environmental impact that flying has.

Tourism has more disadvantages than advantages for the host country.

Going on holiday in your own country is boring.

If you travel abroad, you should learn some of the local language before you go.

Tourists should pay more for products and services than local people.