An Index to Twenty-Five Years of English Language Teaching, 1946–1971
Milestones in ELT

The British Council was established in 1934 and one of our main aims has always been to promote a wider knowledge of the English language. Over the years we have issued many important publications that have set the agenda for ELT professionals, often in partnership with other organisations and institutions.

As part of our 75th anniversary celebrations, we re-launched a selection of these publications online, and more have now been added in connection with our 80th anniversary. Many of the messages and ideas are just as relevant today as they were when first published. We believe they are also useful historical sources through which colleagues can see how our profession has developed over the years.

An Index to Twenty-Five Years of English Language Teaching, 1946–1971

Published in 1972, this volume covers the first 25 years of the journal now known as ELT Journal. Compiled by the British Council’s English Teaching Information Centre (ETIC), the index contains 14 subject sections, from spoken English to language learning, plus an author index. Volume, year and page number references are provided to articles published in the journal, which started life as a British Council publication and was later, from volume 16 (1961–62) onwards, taken on by Oxford University Press.

FOREWORD

Much that has been contributed to English Language Teaching since it was founded more than twenty-five years ago is of more than transitory value, and this volume will help practising teachers of English as a foreign language and other language-teaching specialists to find their way much more easily about past issues in search of what they require. Our gratitude is due to those who have undertaken with such meticulous care the very weighty indexing task.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE

The following index to the journal English Language Teaching, published by the Oxford University Press, covers the 25-year period 1946 to 1971 inclusive.

The material is divided according to subject. Fourteen main headings and two subheadings were used; these are listed on the following page. Cross references (on a separate line at the end of the entry) are given where needed. Articles of which abstracts have been made for Language-Teaching Abstracts (and its predecessor English-Teaching Abstracts), edited by the English-Teaching Information Centre and the Centre for Information on Language Teaching and Research under the imprint of the Cambridge University Press, are noted after author and title. The abbreviations L-TA and E-TA, respectively, are used. Articles re-published in the volumes ELT Selections 1 and ELT Selections 2 also follow author and title; in this case the abbreviations used are ELTS 1 and ELTS 2 respectively.

An index of authors, with references according to subject-heading number, is appended.
